Duane Hall-----South Africa

Some weeks ago I received my Power-Booster from Rebound, which many of you might know as a Slingshot. While I'm not a fan of gear that offers assistance during the lift, I must admit training with the Power-Booster changed my perspective on assisting equipment which I have incorporated into my accessory training for bench press. The result was 140x8x3, 160x3x3, 170x1 (unassisted) and 180x4x3 with the Power-Booster. This allowed me to overload the triceps and deltoids during the last phase of the eccentric part of the lift as well as keep my line of movement consistent during the press. Thank you to Ian Morris from Rebound for the hook-up.
